The Editor's Column

Box 1812,
Carmel California,
April 15, 1948.

Editor of the Pine Cone,
Dear Madam,

Recently, many box-holders in Carmel received post-cards recommending certain names for election to the City Council. These cards were signed "Carmel Civic Group", but outside of that, the signature was anonymous, giving neither officers, members, nor address of such a Group. May I inquire if you have any information about this group, and if it actually exists? I have asked many civic minded Carmelites and none of them knew anything about this matter. As there are many new residents in Carmel, who might be influenced by this card, perhaps Messrs. Knight, Childers and Gleason could tell us something about their up to now nameless backers.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Paul H. Low.

We know of no Carmel Civic Group.

The cards were not printed at our shop. We suspect that Messrs. Knight, Childers and Gleason are the innocent victims of the ill advised enthusiasm of some of their friends. Ill advised it certainly appeared to be for the effect of the cards was to antagonize the voters rather than influence them to vote for the candidates listed. We believe that whatever strength Knight, Childers and Gleason had at the polls was in spite of the cards and not because of them. It is even possible that the suggestion of under-cover organization conveyed by the unsigned cards may have lost the candidates support they might otherwise have had, and it is possible that the cards may have meant the difference between success and defeat for Charles Childers, who lost by the small margin of eight votes. It is hoped that this incident will be remebered the next time some misguided supporter wants to campaign for his candidates but doesn't think highly enough of the influence of his own name to sign his appeal.

A Message From Your Postal Employees

Our friends in the Post Office have a message they have asked us to pass on to you.

"As is commonly known, and proven by statistics, the cost of living has continually risen. This rise in the cost of living has necessitated we postal employees to take inventory of our financial condition.

"We find that in order to keep our families and homes on an even financial basis, it is necessary for us to resort to our only method of obtaining relief: petitioning the Congress of the United States.

"This we have done. But in order that we may obtain this very necessary relief, we subject our case to you, the public.

"We appeal to you to assist us in our efforts. There are bills now

Canas Installs Sculpture Group At The Mission

Spanish sculptor Jose Canas arrived in Carmel over a week ago to install a sculpture relief, weighing over six tons, in the southwest side of the Carmel Mission court. The sculpture is a gift from Spain, a goodwill gesture by the Hispanic Institute of Art. There are five figures—a Spanish missionary, two male Indians representing two types—the warriors and the laborers, an idealized figure of a woman showing the dignity of the Indian's soul which the padres sought to Christianize, and a child, representative of the future of the new generation. Two vessels in the background indicate the highways of the sea.

Senor Canas, who completed most of the work in Barcelona, is now living at the Mission to supervise the installation of his work. A sculptor of the first magnitude, he is a director of the Barcelona Institute of Art. He plans to remain here until the end of May. When he is not working on the relief he finds relaxation in doing pastels of California Missions and of the local countryside.

Kids To Take Over The Pine Cone For 18th School Issue

High School and Sunset Students will put out next week's issue of the Pine Cone, for the time has arrived for the Eighteenth Annual School Issue — Gaudeamus Igitur! And if the youngsters can find so rare a creature as a classics student lurking somewhere in Carmel, perhaps they will give you the rest of the words of the medieval school song that so richly typifies youth: "Let Us Rejoice while we are young . . . The first two words of the song have traditionally topped the Annual School Issue of the Pine Cone, and as traditionally been interpreted as representing pied type, the implications being, we suppose, that the kids don't know their business, a misconception immediately dispelled by three minutes' reading of the paper. There has never been a bad or even an "average" school issue. They are always outstanding.

This year's high school staff consists of Mike Monahan, editor, Eleanor Bannerman and Nancy Page, assistant editors. Pine Needles will be gathered and written by Judy Campbell, Beverly Dowgiallo, Kathie von Meier and Pat Timbers. Reporters Rod Dewar, Bob Barry, Owen Greenan, Betty Goulart, Wanda Warren, and Paul Warner will handle the current news, cover the council and planning commission meetings and interview any interesting people who may drop in on Carmel during the week. Feature writers are Ginger Klein and Peggy Riker. Phil Wettengel will handle sports. Colin Kuster will be photographer. There will be feature material, poetry, and art work contributed by other students.

Sunset will be featured largely with every grade represented.

The school issue coming out on Friday, April 23, sets the fuse for School Week, which will wind up with a display of stars in the Senior Play, April 30.

Carmel Puts Up Lone Fight Against School Unification

The battle to keep local autonomy of Carmel schools was still going on in Pacific Grove, where the redistricting subcommittee was in session, as the Pine Cone went to press Thursday. Dr. L. A. Williams and Mrs. Martha Moller, Carmel school board members, and Stuart Mitchell, school superintendent, spent a gruelling morning faced with a solid front of opposition. The redistricting committee, though protesting that they were willing to hear Carmel's side of the question, are heavily prejudiced in favor of unification of the peninsula school systems into one district. They levelled a crossfire of questions at the Carmel representatives who want to keep Carmel school administration in Carmel hands. Dr. Williams especially was a target for attack.

There may be another meeting, in Carmel, before the committee reaches its decision, which will be put in the form of a recommendation to the Regional Committee, which takes in the entire coastal area of the state. The Regional Committee will study the recommendation, and pass on their recommendation to the State Commission in Sacramento. The next move, if the recommendations have been for unification, will be for the county superintendent to call an election in the areas affected. There will be open hearings, with opportunities for dissatisfied districts to voice their objections, as the recommendations move on from committee to committee.

Carmel Unincorporated To Protest Permit For Mission Ranch Theatre

Carmel Unincorporated will protest officially against the granting of a use permit to Mrs. Marcella Cisney for converting the Mission Ranch Banqueting Hall into a theatre for summer stock company productions. Hearing on the application will be held April 26 at the supervisors rooms in Salinas at 1:00 p.m.

The decision to protest was reached Wednesday at a meeting of Carmel Unincorporated executive Committee, Major General E. G. Chapman, president of the organization, said yesterday.

The standing committee on zoning matters, Stanley Pedder and Dr. A. L. Van Meter, have been instructed to appear before the County Planning Commission and formally enter the protest for Carmel Unincorported.

Speaking for the executive committee, General Chapman said, "Our decision was reached in conformity with the established policy of the organization to oppose any extension of the use or change of zoning in that area." He added that any change in the status of the Mission Ranch zoning restrictions, "is bitterly opposed by all residents in this area."

General Chapman emphasized that the protest is based entirely on the zoning issue. The fact that the applicant is acting for herself and not representing the Pasadena Playhouse, as was first assumed by a number of Peninsula people, has no bearing on the action taken by Carmel Unincorporated.

"Carmel Unincorporated is not concerned with the financial responsibility of the applicant; nor is it interested officially in any controversy over protecting local drama against outside encroachments. Its interests are confined to maintaining the zoning restrictions that are the protection of the home owners in the vicinity of the Mission Ranch."

He added that there would probably be other members of the organization and residents of the district at the hearing, "because they are interested," but that the organization's case would be presented by the committee appointed for that purpose.

This is only another skirmish in a long series of battles over Mission Ranch zoning, one of which resulted in the Ranch management's having to tear out an extension illegally built on the dining room. The Ranch, a restaurant and night club, operating as a nonconforming business in a residential area, may continue with the present facilities and structures under the same uses, but may not increase its struetures or change or extend its activities. The site of the proposed theatre is not the Mission Ranch Club House or the Mission Ranch Barn —the one a restaurant and bar, the other a dance hall and bar— but is a banquet hall where occasional private parties and organization dinners are held.

Martin, Knight, Ricketts Are New Councilmen

Andrew Martin, Allen Knight and Gene Ricketts won seats on the Carmel City Council in Tuesday's election, Ricketts beating incubent Charles Childers by 8 votes: 407 to 399; Martin poled 539 and Knight, 500.

Captain Henry Gleason made a good showing with 343. The other candidates: Malcolm Woods, 269; Leslie F. Bosshardt, 236; Francis Whitaker, 216; Jack Laughlin, 172; Harry Giem, 101.

Peter Mawdsley, unopposed for city clerk, 704; Harry Hilbert, unopposed for city treasurer, 718. Total vote cast, 1140.

The district-wide airport election returns gave Charles Olmstead 1553; Tom Mathews, 1296 and Dr. Harry Brownell, 1293, securing their election over Fred Godwin, who polled 1213, and John McBain, 779.

New councilmen Martin, Knight and Ricketts will be seated Tuesday night at the special meeting of the old city council to canvass the election. City Clerk Peter Mawdsley will preside over the new council until it chooses its mayor. It is customary for the members to offer the office of mayor to the newly elected councilman who received the greatest number of votes. Since 1941 this honor has been refused by the new councilmen in favor of more experienced members. The mayor will then name his commissioners. Fred Godwin and Donald Craig are hold-over councilmen.

Gallery Completes Plans For School Festival Of Art

Mrs. Nellie Montague, curator of the Carmel Art Association, is back at the galleries after a month's vacation. At its regular monthly meeting, held April 7, the board of directors made a special vote of thanks to Mrs. Laura Max well for her aid in keeping the gallery open during that time.

Mrs. Montague called attention to the coming annual high school festival of art, to be held during the week starting May 17 at the Gallery, in which all the high schools in the state are invited to participate. The Carmel Business Association contributes prizes for the winners, and the Carmel High School's athletic fund contributes $25 to cover expenses. The Carmel Art Association provides the gallery for display and handles the judging.

President Armin Hansen announced that Mr. Fremont Ryder has offered to build a brick wall for the gallery, facing on Dolores street. The board unanimously voted to accept his offer and expressed its appreciation. Hansen announced also that an anonymous donor had contributed $1000 to the building fund.

THE RAIN

Jack Gile's potent Tigers are still in the top spot and will be challenged this week by Jack Whiteside's fighting Giants. The Tiger-Giant game will be played at 2:30 and will be preceded by the Pilot-Shamrock game at 1:30.

PADRES WIN OVER P.G. IN TRACK MEET, 58-55

Pacific Grove's domination of the Carmel thinclads came to an abrupt halt last Friday afternoon on the Breaker track when the Red and Grey relay team raced to a thrilling victory to cinch the meet for the Padres. In past years, Pacific Grove has regarded the locals as strictly warmup material and has never been exceeded in its quest for track victory. The 1948 edition of the Padre track team has made tremendous strides and will be a threat for CCAL honors.

In the lightweight division, the Breakers copped the relay to clinch a 59-52 victory. The little Padres came mighty close to upsetting the Pacific Grove limiteds but weren't deep enough to salvage the second and third places.

With a wind of gale proportions whipping around the track, times were not startling and failed to threaten any of the league records. A 24.2 200 yd low hurdle performance by Paul Warner, ace Padre timber topper, was the nearest to a record for the day. Paul also snared the 120 yd high hurdles, and placed second in the broad jump to wind up as high point man for the Carmel varsity. Bob Barry, Carmel's star miler, took a whirl at the quarter mile but found the distance too short and was nosed out by PG's Moss, who has the makings of a league champion. A torrid sprint duel between Kelly of Pacific Grove and Garguilo of Carmel found honors evenly divided when Kelly defeated Garguilo in the century and Garguilo turned the tables in the 220. Dan Holmes turned in an upset performance in the discus to take a welcome 2nd place and valuable points were taken away from the favored Breakers.

The Carmel little squirts acquired a lot of first places and just barely missed duplicating the varsity upset. Legare McNeill tallied 15 points for the Carmel limiteds by winning both hurdles and the discus. Bob Osborne continued his winning ways in the 660 and Eric Short surprised by taking a first in the high jump. Aram Tootelian, Carmel sprinter, ran second in both dashes and placed in the broad jump. A nice 330 by Ed Goodrich contributed a valuable 5 points to the Padre cause.

Point-getters for the Carmel varsity: Dick Garguilo 6, Bob Barry 4, Bill Hodgson 1, Herman Menezs 5, Lew McCreery 1, Howard DeAmaral 5, Denicio Narvaez 1, Paul Warner 16, Curt Gorham 6, Jim Moran 1, Gene Vandervort 1, Dick Taplin 5, Dan Holmes 3.

Lightweights: Aram Tootelian 7, Ed Goodrick 5, Bob Osborne 5, Jim Harget 3, Gary Robison 3, Eric Short 9, Legare McNeill 15, Steve Whitaker 3.

CARMEL AND MONTEREY IN TENNIS MEET WEDNESDAY

The Monterey High School courts will be the site for the clash between the undefeated net squads of Carmel and Monterey preps next Wednesday afternoon. Both the Monterey and Carmel racquet wielders have stormed through league opposition without a defeat and each is confident that they have the winner. Monterey, besides vanquishing all league competition, has taken the measure of the California and Stanford freshmen teams. The Carmel net artists have defeated Campbell and Los Gatos in outside competition.

Feature match of the afternoon should be the clash between Lee Winslow, top Padre netster, and Ray Messinger, peer of the Toreador squad. Winslow has scored victories over Messinger in past matches and appears capable of repeating next Wednesday.

The matches will start at 3:30 and the public is invited free of charge. There is plenty of bleacher space at the Monterey courts.

WATSONVILLE NO MATCH FOR CARMEL NETSTERS

Coach Harlan Reyburn's Carmel High School tennis squad easily defeated the Watsonville team last Tuesday afternoon and go into their final week of play with an unsmirched record.

Winslow defeated Fillon 6-0, 6-0; Schmutz defeated Blickby 6-0, 6-0; Monahan defeated Roseberg 6-0, 6-1; Rowe (W) defeated Allaire 4-6, 6-3, 8-6; Laugenour defeated Koefoed 6-1, 6-2.

Doubles: Winslow-Schmutz defeated Fillon-Blickby 6-0, 6-0; Carpenter-DeAmaral defeated Roseberg-Rowe 6-0, 6-1.

CCAL B DIVISION TRACKFEST AT P. G. SATURDAY MORNING

Track stars of the 5 small schools of the CCAL will gather at the Pacific Grove field tomorrow morning to decide the best of the little guys and to determine qualifiers for the big CCAL meet at Hollister on May 1st. From past performances, Carmel has a good chance to cop the small school meet and should qualify a host of performers for the big meet. Pacific Grove dropped a dual meet to Carmel, but they have some outstanding individual performers who will cut into the Padre points. King City is well stocked with hurdlers, sprinters, and weight men, and appears capable of grabbing all honors. The Gonzales Spartans have top weight men, sprinters, and broad jumpers to offer keen competition. It is rumored that little Boulder Creek is loaded with track talent and just waiting for a chance to lower the boom on some of the schools who gave them sound thumpings in basketball. First event starts at 10 a.m. and the meet will finish by 12 o'clock.

"NEWT" COLLECTS.

Newt Bassler of Carmel won two prizes in the $1,000 Vallejo Golf Championship last week. He and one of his amateur partners turned in a best ball of 68, which tied for second place. With another partner he scored 69, also in the money.

Direction, Cast, Sets, All Click In Playhouse Comedy, Here Today

By HELEN LANE

From the moment the curtain parted at 8:30 p.m., April 12, at the Golden Bough Playhouse until it closed two hours later, the house was charged with laughter in response to George Oppenheimer's comedy of bad manners, Here Today. Such positive response can be credited to the great director, Lloyd Weer, who established and maintained the most necessary ingredient in a farce such as this: pace; to the well-chosen cast of eight, all of whom entered wholeheartedly into their various roles; to the members of the "crew" who delighted the eye with their sets, wardrobe, makeup, and lighting effects; and to Edward Kuster, who owns the Golden Bough Playhouse where guest directors such as Lloyd Weer and Lee Crowe can present community entertainment.

The plot derives from the effect produced by two New York Bohemians upon a staid Bostonian family vacationing in Nassau. Let it be said that these two playwrights who are "here today and gone tomorrow" do not cease during the entire three acts to produce effects. Vicki Buckley (Mrs. William Buckley) played Mary Hilliard vividly, brightly, and with gusto; Lloyd Weer played Stanley Dale smoothly, debonairly, and with a bland twist to his side-splitting lines. These two manipulated the play skillfully, for they had established between Mary and Stanley a fine rapport, which can be achieved only through good casting, talent, and hard work.

Lt. William Buckley, who gave such a creditable performance in The Voice of the Turtle, portrayed Philip Graves, Mary's former husband, wittily and with great charm and ease; that poise which was apparent in the former production was present in this one also.

The proper Windrews were represented by Charlotte Bohn Marx as the indomitable matriarch, Mrs. Windrew; in such capable hands, Mrs. Windrew emerged not as a caricature but a character in the round; there were moments when the despotic woman drew the sympathy of the audience: for example, her reaction to the news of Philip's parentage, and her collapse on the couch, which bordered neatly on the ridiculous.

Her son, Jeffrey was played by Larry Rose who conveyed the vigor and youthful earnestness that the part suggested; and he added a wonderful colt-like quality, a manner of barging in and out of the room and diving up and down the stairs with elaborate concentration and determination that made him a perfect foil for the effortlessly scintillating Mary and the affable, droll Stanley. This portrayal was a fine contrast to the gentle, almost lyrical quality he injected into "Mrs. Moonlight" last November.

Her daughter, Claire, engaged to Spencer Grant but in love with Philip, is the "straight" character in the comedy and as such was convincingly played by Catherine Winslow who did not fall out of character. Throughout, she maintained the fretful, piqued, worrisome attitude that a girl such as Claire would have acquired after being under the thumb of the implacable Mrs. Windrew.

Mrs. Windrew's choice of husband for Claire, Spencer Grant, was portrayed with authenticity by Girard Henderson who made the character the very essence of Back Bay solidity, humororless, and grimly dedicated to his insurance business. If one sees the play in terms of moving masses, Spencer was the block around which the others swirled like meteors. He carried this idea of the block into his stolid stance, his measured speech, and his square gestures.

Ruth Marion McElroy was memorable, despite the fact that she appeared so briefly, because of her ability to project a living character who lives and breathes, the audience feels, before her entrances and after her exits. To the stage she brings an aura of true artistry and creativeness. One cannot forget the way she looked and the way she said, so intimately and simply, "No, that's coffee."

There were other moments such as this that struck one as inspired; to mention but a few: chivalrous Stanley in black, turtle-neck sweater and pith helmet, having braved the direct rays of the sun, carrying limp Mary into the cool room; Mrs. Windrew approaching her jig-saw puzzle, stating that she is not feeling well, and looking genuinely sick and unable to muster her old zip for the game; Philip when Mrs. Windrew commands him to leave at the moment he has arrived with his bags.

The sets designed by Gabrielle Kuster deserve particular mention for they established the atmosphere immediately. Against a background of chartreuse flats, bamboo furniture with touches of clear red upholstery were artfully placed, and straw mats lay on the floor. The room was cool, deliberately cool, while outside the French doors the air was humid.

The entire production achieved its aim of bringing brisk, hilarious entertainment, swiftly paced and smartly projected to the community. It seems doubtful that the ensuing performances, April 19, 25 (matinee), 26 and May 3 can surpass opening night, but if they do nothing more than measure up to it, one can be assured a delightful diversion.

Clara Kellogg

She was a living example of the three priceless ingredients of human nature at its best: wisdom, courage, kindness. The three were mingled in her in happy union; the kindness kept the wisdom from ever degenerating into intellectual arrogance, and the courage from turning into hardness. The courage kept the kindness from falling into softness or sentimentality. The wisdom guided the courage and the kindness in the true course.

And do not forget another bright quality in her, that quiet quizzical humor, that never failed either in success or failure of the cause, and always saved her from the besetting sin of gifted natures, taking themselves too seriously. She was in truth a sage, a queen, a saint—but how she would have laughed at such names applied to her!

Inevitably she was often cast for leadership, for her insight, foresight and energy were not unseen by those about her; but those who worked with her were to her never 'followers' but comrades. The good cause was everything, such a thing as personal glory just nothing.

Happy the communities that have been blessed with her deeds, and the friends who have known her as friend. —EOS.

Lloyd Johnson

Lloyd Johnson, for two years a resident of Carmel, died April 12. Mr. Johnson, associated with the Central Life Assurance Society, lived at Carmelo and 8th streets. He was 44 years old and a native of Elgin, Illinois.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Amy Johnson, and a daughter, Karen Johnson, both of Carmel. Private services were held Tuesday in the Paul Mortuary in Monterey, followed by inurnment in the Little Chapel by the Sea, Pacific Grove.

The future of the Carmel School District is of vital interest to every true Carmelite and was the topic of discussion at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting on Tuesday at Sunset School. The question of re-districting may soon concern every parent and student on the peninsula and should be called to the attention of every member of the community. The subject was discussed by Stuart Mitchell, Superintendent of Schools, in a comprehensive address to the P.T.A.

An exhibit of some of the documents of our American Heritage and early California history has been arranged at Colton Hall.

Student representatives of American History classes from Monterey, Pacific Grove, and Carmel High Schools have been asked to serve as guides, thus giving them a chance to put into effective use their knowledge of history obtained through their high school courses.

The wise use of our national resources is the concern of each and every citizen in our country today. How we can best conserve these resources has recently been studied by the biology and science classes in an attempt to alleviate the problem.

The Pine Cone offered a prize for the best work done in this field. Prizes were given to Gilbert Nell, Susan McCloud, Barbara Balzar, Francis Shuman, and Margot Claypoole for their contribution in the field of wild flower conservation and to Jim Hare, Tim McCormick, Lee Laugenour, and Richard Mulholland for their outstanding work on a report covering the conservation of fish and game. Awards of fifteen dollars were divided equally among the members of each group. This award will be made annually.

Another in the series of noted educators, Mr. J. Schultz, Dean of Guidance at Salinas J.C., will visit Carmel High School Thursday to advise graduating seniors and have individual conferences with those interested in attending Salinas J.C.

The Freshmen, not to be outdone by their upperclassmen predecessors, presented a sparkling variety show Friday. Numbers by various members of the class and skits made this assembly one of which seniors could be proud. The closing number, a rendition of Rhapsody in Blue, by Ann Thoeni and Carol Smith concluded an enjoyable program.

This Saturday 120 girls from Santa Cruz, Hollister, and Carmel will join in a playday at our own high school. The girls will participate in baskeball, volleyball and softball. It is programs such as these which foster the friendly spirit prevailing between CCAL schools.

Clara N. Kellogg Proposed As Name For New School

No decision was reached on the naming contest for the Dolores Street school at the regular meeting of the Carmel School Board Tuesday evening. The contest rules, prepared and proposed by Llyod Miller, teacher in the High School commerical department and faculty advisor to El Padre, school newspaper, were read and discussed. Stuart Mitchell, district superintendent and high school principal, then read an informal suggestion from the Carmel P.T.A., urging the adoption of the name The Clara Kellogg School, in memory of the late Clara N. Kellogg, for many years active in Carmel civic and educational affairs. After considerable debate on the advisability of a contest in view of the P.T.A. proposal, the matter was postponed for further discussion at the next meeting.

Discussed and adopted was the school calendar for 1948-49, recommended by the County Superintendent, which will add five teaching days to the total of last year's calendar. Under the new schedule, school will open on August 30th, and will close on June 10th. County-wide adoption is expected, thus standardizing school attendance on the Peninsula.

With improved methods of painting and disinfecting concrete, Principal Mitchell reported, tiling of the high school showers may not be necessary, as formerly believed. He asked that permission be given to use the money set aside for this purpose, the sum of $5000.00, to resurface the corridor walks, to install and flame-proof curtains in four classrooms, the cafeteria and the library at the high school, and to treat with flame-proofing materials the curtains on the stages of both schools. Theatre curtains, Mr. Mitchell pointed out, must be fireproof in compliance with state law. As certain aspects of the financial report accompanying this recommendation were not clear to the members, decision on the matter was postponed until the next meeting. An outlay of $300.00 for a new boiler in the high school cafeteria was approved with no discussion.

Results of the County Testing Program for the eighth grade, dealing with intelligence and achievement tests given in November, 1947 and March, 1948, respectively, were read by Mr. Mitchell. The reading, arithmetic, and language tests in particular were above expectations, he said.

The Salary Committee for Certificated Employees submitted no report, but will present one in the near future regarding proposed salary increases for Carmel teachers. It was also announced by Mr. Mitchell that the Board of Supervisors are purchasing a payroll machine which will expedite the issuance of salary checks.

Passed with no discussion was a resolution authorizing Kump and Company to proceed with working drawings for the Dolores Street school.

A letter was read from the Carmel Lion's Club, signed by Alfred G. Fry, which offered full cooperation in the fund-raising campaign for the new swimming pool at the high school. Also read and accepted was the formal resignation of Mrs. Virginia Nye, who for the last two years has been teaching at Sunset School, and who is leaving for Bellevue, Washington, this summer.

The meeting was adjourned by Chairman Harold Nielsen, and the members were given a preview of three newly-completed art and science classrooms.

Thought, Research Went Into Making New Fr. Serra At Joe's

Fifty feet from the statue of Father Serra in the north east corner of the Devendorf Plaza is a new redwood statue in Joe's Taxi building and bus station. The story behind the planning and execution of the statue is one of detailed work to achieve an imaginative yet factual representation of Father Serra.

Jon Konigshofer who designed the building talked the idea over with James Solt who suggested Howell Armor for the designer. Mr. Solt and Mr. Armor then went to the Mission to look over the work of Joe Mora, who had designed the sarcophagus for Father Serra. Mr. Solt made two sketches, then Mr. Armor returned to make measurements and sketches and modeled a 15 inch clay statue. Realizing that Father Serra had never been given a symbol, as is usual with the statues of saints, Mr. Armor decided that the key to his symbol should be the faith and will power that enabled the Father to open all California to Christianity. This faith he showed in the statue's face and in the large Spanish key, symbolizing the opening key to Christianity. The hands were purposely made outsize to demonstrate power, and to draw attention to the key which is similar in design to old Spanish keys, found and studied by Mr. Armor at the Custom House, the Presidio, and the Leo Ross' house in Monterey. The part of the key that goes into the lock was always covered with a design, so Mr. Armor designed his key with a simple Spanish cross and gave the handle of the key a heart design to symbolize the Sacred Heart. Mr. Armor kept the entire design simple and severe in keeping with the subject matter and the redwood material, and used the color and grain of the wood to suggest the fall of robes. The feet stand wide apart to show stability, and the solemun attitude of the head, turned slightly left, suggests the Father meditating on all the problems which confronted him as President General of all the Missions of California. Mr. Armor searched lengthily for portraits of the Father, but found that a study of Andre Gide by sculptor Joe Davidson suggested more the qualities that he wished to represent, and so used the Gide head as a model for preliminary sketches.

Mr. Armor had hoped to get a block of redwood from one of the old Missions but unable to find just what he wanted, finally decided on a hand hewn redwood beam, taken from the Circle M. Ranch which had belonged to John Nesbitt, but had been razed, when it was found it had been built on an earthquake fault. It is very difficult to get aged redwood, which is the kind most suitable for use, since it cracks less than the newer wood; this beam was treated with lindseed oil. Though a few of the old nail marks still showed, they were plugged up with pieces of the same wood and bleached. The whole statue is carved from this one redwood block, and then finished with three coats of boiled lindseed oil, two coats of shellac, and a coat of wax.

When the statue was completed, it was displayed for several weeks at the Carmel Art Gallery before being put into its final home at the taxi building where it stands benevolently dominating those who rest beneath it.

Skillful Weaving, Copper Work, Pottery In A.A.U.W. Annual Show

Tomorrow afternoon the American Association of University Women, Monterey Peninsula Branch, will enjoy their annual program featuring arts and crafts at the home of Miss Katharine Van Horne, chairman of this activity, at Fourth and Carmelo Streets. The meeting begins promptly at two o'clock with election of officers, the only business, after which the members and guests will be free to examine the extensive exhibit which Miss Van Horne has assembled for the occasion. Mrs. Gordon Beall, president, will conduct the short session.

A delightful display of pottery from three local craftsmen includes varied applications of the potters' skill; gleaming copper vessels, trays, and tea things will add a bright note, supplemented with many examples of fine weaving, both antique and modern, American, European, and Oriental. Three looms of different sizes will be warped, with different patterns of weaving in them (Miss Van Horne has five looms, and many products of her skilled fingers.)

Carl von Saltza—the hostess' cousin—and his wife, who live on Jack's Peak, will show their pottery, whose decorations are of the wife's designing. Mrs. Margaret Lang, whose well-equipped workshop in Monterey is familiar to most Peninsula lovers of pottery, is lending some of her best pieces. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. McPheeters, Jr., have contributed a number of pieces combining fine wood and pottery, such as tea tiles, and wood-and-pottery book ends with the addtion of a copper base. The Pottery section gives a fine display of artistic craftsmanship.

From her grandmother's priceless blue and white bedspread in double weaving, through drapes, tablecovers, scarfs, 'kerchiefs, wallhangings, and filmy squares in delicate colors, Miss Van Horne's textiles represent Sweden—where she acquired some of her skill in the art—Finland, Switzerland, Italy, and other countries, as well as the work of her own family. They present a great variety of patterns.

Copper craft is shown in articles made by Mr. and Mrs. Ivor L. Prosser. A copper tea table, hand beaten, round trays and wall brackets, all handmade, are examples of their metal craft. A piece in old Celtic design and one showing a galleon in full sale are particularly attractive. While the display of crafts will be shown in the house, the garden on three levels will attract the members and guests of A.A.U.W., if the weather is fine, and give an opportunity for social enjoyment. —L.L.T.

The Time Has Come . .

By KIPPY STUART

It is all very well to be a gardener and grow flowers for home decorations, but it is just as well to learn a few tricks about keeping flowers fresh and free from wilt. And then, there is the art of flower arrangement. The flower artist can take a few whisps of grass, a sprig of this and that, a tired dandelion or two, and turn the whole into a spot of beauty.

In an article on The Care of Cut Flowers and their Preservation, written by a Carmel resident, Mrs. William Furman Hutchinson, is interesting, constructive advice. Mrs. Hutchinson is now the guiding genius at The Mel-O-Dee Flower shop.. Her window arrangements are unusual and distinctive and serve to brighten Dolores street for the passerby. Mrs. Hutchinson served her apprenticeship at Podesta and Baldocchi in San Francisco and at the Arboretum at Golden Gate Park and is by way of being an authority on both arrangements and the preservation of cut flowers.

Excerpts from Mrs. Hutchinson's article:

"Do not place flowers in a basket when cutting; carry along a small pail of water and plunge flowers immediately into the water. Before taking flowers out of pail, cut off a small portion of the stem and do this second cutting under the water. There are soft stemmed flowers; sticky stemmed flowers, woody stemmed and hard stemmed flowers, each requiring different treatment for their preservation.

Pansies, heliotrope, nasturtiums, prefer warm water, hand temperature. The stems of sticky varieties, poppies, dahlias and mignonette, should be seared with a flame. Woody-stemed species, chrysanthemums, roses and the like, are better preserved if cut on the slant, and cut with a sharp knife. Plunge into boiling water for a moment or so, then place in cool water. A paper should be held around the flower to protect it from steam.

Hardwood stem:—lilac, rhododendrens, azaleas, do better if their bark is peeled back an inch or two. Then stem should be split or bruised with a mallet. Before placing any flower in water, the stem that is under the water should be stripped of all leaves. It is not necessary to disturb a flower arrangement to change water. Place the container under the faucet and let water run gently.

The use of aspirin as a flower preservative has no scientific basis. Place a small piece of gum camphor in the water around hot house flowers. A few drops of essence of peppermint water will likewise help garden flowers to retain their freshness. A drooping rosebud will come to life almost immedately if a tablespoon of sugar is put in the container. Salt sprinkled into the center rosette of a gardenia will prevent the waxy blossom from turning brown. Chrysanthemums will remain fresh for three weeks if a cup of sugar is added to the water. A few drops of gelatin poured into the heart of a poppy or other easily shattered blooms, will prevent petal dropping.

Bamboo is a favorite decoration of the Japanese. Bamboo fronds wilt quickly. To preserve bamboo the Japanese harvest early in the morning, remove the bottom division and fill the tube with 58 grains of cloves that have been stewed in boiling water. The bottom of the stem is then sealed and the bamboo cone laid horizontally until the liquid has cooled. The bamboo frond is then ready for arrangements.

Thank you, Mrs. Hutchinson for this interesting information.

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

Speaking of birds and cats—we were, I believe—reminds me about Miss Brown. The other morning I went to have a look around the garden. Alas and alack! The birds have had a convention with Romaine lettuce as the main course at the luncheon. My blood pressure went up like a rocket plane at the devastation they had wrought.

Just then Miss Brown came pad-pad-padding along. She looked at me and then at the lettuce row. Then she nonchalantly sat back on her haunches and unconcernedly began furiously washing herself. Presently she looked up at me with a grin like her Cheshire ancestor and remarked: "That's what you get for calling me a bad-cat when I come bringing in one of those fellows. Good enough for you." With that she truned and trotted into the raspberry patch.

So that was that. Nothing for me to do but go and get the chicken wire tents and cover over the sad remains. The stable door was now locked. Why will I never learn to take preventive measures! Fortunately the feathered horde did not attack the center hearts and in time the plants will recover. It took the rest of the day for my blood pressure to get back to normal. Miss Brown has been very smug since. Well, wouldn't you be?

The wire tents? They are made out of one-inch mesh chicken wire. I had some four-foot wire which I cut into three pieces and bent each in the middle the whole length. That makes each side of the tent about eight inches high and the birds have difficulty getting their heads through the small mesh. Half-inch mesh would be better but I used what I had. These contraptions are a bit of a nuisance when not in use but the birds are an even greater vexation.

To keep the birds out of the strawberry patch I have a frame built all around the bed, made of one-by-one scantlings. This is raised about fifteen inches from the ground and has cross pieces in both directions. Over this and hanging well down on the ground is a piece of fisherman's net. One of the neighbors gave me my piece but if you are in Monterey some day when the fishermen are mending their seines you can have a good big piece for the asking.

When there is need to irrigate—every week or ten days—or to pick the berries, I have another one-by-one at the low end of the patch. This is placed on the frame, the loose end of the net folded up over it and the whole net can be rolled back slick as a pin. To recover, of course, the process is reversed. Sure, it is a bother and takes time but, lordy me, aren't strawberries worth a little time and bother? Strawberries with the taste of the sun on them! Makes my mouth water just to write about them.

There's a powder you can use to dust on plants which does help to keep the birds from getting more than their share of the garden products. It is fairly expensive, is not too easy to apply evenly, is a bit unsightly and has to be washed off berries, lettuce and the like very carefully before the produce is eaten. No—not poison—just bad taste, something like alum. Makes your mouth feel as if you had eaten a green persimmon—a prunes and-prisms sensation.

Yes, all this is irritating and bothersome, but it is Nature's way. On the whole she's a pretty fine gal if you'll just string along with her and adjust yourself to her ways. She's full of surprises but they wouldn't be surprises if we knew more about her. Just watch and listen—she's a great teacher.

Why Power Curtailment Was Suspended

Abnormally heavy late season rains, new P. G. and E. power, and more power from other sources combine to end shortage

Heavy rains and snows during the last month raised P. G. and E. reservoirs and increased the snow pack in the mountains enough to permit the suspension of curtailment, at least temporarily.

Here is what brought about the change:

1. January weather in Springtime . . . which replenished reservoirs, increased the snowpack and cut the need for unseasonable farm pumping.

2. New P. G. & E. power plants . . . like the 101,000 horsepower Kern Steam Plant near Bakersfield which is expected to be in operation this month, and others coming on the lines soon.

3. Additional power from other sources. We are tapping every feasible source of power. For example, increases in deliveries from Southern California and Shasta Dam.

4. Daylight time and voluntary savings by our customers. These also helped, and it is important now that they continue.

5. Water saved during curtailment. We were able to hold precious water in our reservoirs because of the power cut.

Another appraisal of water and power supplies will be made by June 1.

Meanwhile, We're Working Night and Day on New Generating Plants

Everything possible is being done to rush P. G. and E.'s long-term power building program initiated in 1945. This huge construction program will add nearly 2,000,000 horsepower to our generating capacity in the next 3½ years. Here are some of our major projects which will come on the lines soon:

Kern Steam Plant, near Bakersfield, will generate 235,000 horsepower. The first 101,000-horsepower Kern unit is expected to go on the line in the next few days.

Electra and West Point Powerhouses on the Mokelumne River, will generate 154,000 horsepower. Electra's 133,000-horsepower will be on the line this summer.

Station "P" Steam Plant, San Francisco, will produce 300,000 additional horsepower. It will go on the line this winter.

Rock Creek and Cresta Powerhouses, on the North Fork of the Feather River, will generate 270,000 horsepower. These plants are scheduled for completion in 1949 and 1950.

Another Steam Electric Unit . . . An additional 150,000 horsepower steam unit at a location as yet undetermined will be completed in 1950.

THANKS FOR YOUR HELP DURING THE EMERGENCY.
We know you will continue to guard against waste of electricity in every way you can.

Town Hall—Prince Otto Of Austria

BY L. LUCILLE TURNER

World policy of the Soviet Union today is to create confusion and economic instability, to promote misery and insecurity among the people, so that the countries may be taken over by Communism and Russia may gain world dominion, Prince Otto of Austria's House of Hapsburg told the Town Hall audience last Saturday night at Sunset School Auditorium. This theme ran through his speech, as he pointed out the activities of that country in every area of the world that has been devastated by the war, making it impossible to establish a real peace.

The prince justified the moderator, Carlton Smith's, introduction of him as "intelligent, democratic, an expert in economics, interested in world affairs, and Doctor of Physical Science," as in vigorous language he traced the developments in Europe since the German collapse and pointed out Russia's repeated moves to block the three western powers' constant efforts to establish peace. Just as the American's did not heed the threat of Hitler two decades earlier when he openly declared his purpose to lead Germany to world domination, neither did they heed Stalin's declaration to the Communist leaders that world revolution would start again, bringing a war between communism and capitalism.

Developing his subject of the Seething Mediterranean, Prince Otto showed the strategic importance of the entire area, and outlined the steps by which the Soviet gained control of countries from the Baltic to Bulgaria, using a highly trained fifth column enabling a minority to gain control. It is not civil war in Greece, he declared, but guerillas from the rugged mountains attacking villages, fighting against women and children, to promote misery and destroy morale, the more easily to gain control. In every country bordering the Mediterranean except Spain the communist fifth column follows the same pattern; for the Arab world, the Soviet embassies in Cairo and Algiers have huge staffs working insidiously to promote discontent and revolt, although the devotion to Mohammedanism may defeat the purpose.

Nor are the Scandinavian countries free from the menace, the speaker said, showing that all Europe is the danger zone, and the Soviet Union will go as far toward conquest as the leaders dare. "The only language the Kremlin understands is force," he continued, "and the only way out is for the western democracies to arm, to become strong." Further, the west must match the underhanded tactics of the Soviet, and not allow them to gain the advantage by duplicity. The democracies must win, so that "Christian principles may give the common people a chance, and Europe may enjoy such a world as you do over here."

By hearty applause and many searching questions the audience showed its appreciation of this number on the Town Hall series.

Tea For Three Who Capsize Off Point Lobos Coast

Hot tea, warm showers, and a change into dry clothes revived three Ford Ord men after their rubber boat capsized off Point Lobos Sunday, bringing their fishing excursion to an abrupt and briny halt.

Victims of the mishap were army Lieutenants Cecil J. Hash, Alfred Wendell and Ralph Anthony. Faulty navigation seems to have been responsible for getting the boat above a barely submerged rock, waves from which caused it to capsize.

Watching the incident was R. A. Wilson, chief ranger at the Point Lobos State Park, who immediately telephoned Deputy Sheriff Jack Eaton of Carmel Highlands. Eaton in turn called the sheriff's office in Monterey. Two sheriff's cars and the Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Fire Department were on the scene in a few minutes, but in the meantime the three officers, assisted by life preservers thrown out by Wilson and Eaton, had been brought ashore. Wendell, who had been fouled by the anchor rope, was aided by Anthony, who dived to cut the line. Hash and Wendell were taken in the ambulance to the Peninsula Community Hospital, but did not require attention; they were then driven to Fort Ord by deputies from the Monterey substation.

The boat drifted to shore and was salvaged, but the Pine Cone's reporter was unable to determine whether the lieutenants plan another trip in it, or whether they will be content to leave seafaring to the Navy.

Have You Read . . . ?

A review of Halfway to Heaven (Prentice-Hall) and an interview with its author, Jean Hersey.

BY DALLAS EDGAR

In Carmel during March and early April was Jean Hersey, author of the new travel book, Halfway to Heaven. An interview with her proved to be a two-way arrangement, for she showered me with questions about Carmel, which she was visiting for the first time.

Her questions exhibited the enthusiasm for new places that has carried her to a score of countries and led to the writing of her book, which covers the land and customs of Guatemala, and which is illustrated by photographs she made during her numerous visits to that country. Best shot—a breathtaking view of cloud-ringed Lake Atitlan.

She brought her camera with her to Carmel, and spent much of her time exposing her films to what she calls "the dramatic lighting of the Carmel landscape," taking shots of Peninsula wildflowers, on which she plans to do an article, complete with colored pictures, for an eastern magazine. When the "dramatic lighting" was obscured by one of our recent rainstorms, she found time for another pleasant task—autographing copies of her book at the Village Book Shop.

Mrs. Hersey returned to the U.S. from Guatemala in September. Since then she has been buisly lecturing with colored slides, appearing on radio interviews, and planning, not one, but three new books. She hopes next to write about Cape Cod, where she spends her summers—when she isn't travelling. She also has in mind a book on house plants, in which she expounds a favorite theory that orchids, particularly the small spray varieties, can be grown in the home with little difficulty. Her most ambitious plan involves taking a leisurely trip through Brittany, Lichtenstein, and other out-of-the-way spots in Europe, and making a non-political report on the people and their customs. She admits sadly that the latter project depends largely on the unpredictable actions of Joseph Stalin.

After finishing Halfway to Heaven, Mrs. Hersey went on what she terms a wonderful reading binge, catching up with new books and renewing acquaintances with old. She particularly admires Thomas Wolfe, and is intrigued with Ayn Rand's opus, Fountainhead. The binge is coming to an end, however, for she finds that her fingers are beginning to itch for the typewriter; unlike many authors, she confesses that she actually likes to write. This affinity for the typewriter has led her to contribute to Life, This Week, House and Garden, Better Homes and Gardens, and other magazines.

The two countries that have attracted her most are Guatemala (her last trip there was her fourth) and Egypt; Egypt, a land filled with relics of gods who were old at the dawn of writ ten history, and Guatemala, a country of tranquil Indians who work their farms among earthquakes and threatening volcanos and who, according to their legend, are descended from men made long ago from the resilient and enduring corn—"stalwart men, beautiful, but not too wise."

While in Carmel, Mrs. Hersey and her husband visited at the home of a fellow author, Henry Maier. They left on April 2 for San Francisco, planning to return soon to New York, where Mr. Hersey owns an advertising agency. They have three children, a daughter at Mills College and two sons at school in the east.

Mrs. Hersey, a small, pretty woman who seems far too young to be the mother of teen-aged children, says she hopes soon to pay another visit to Carmel, which she terms another spot on earth that is "Halfway to Heaven."

AND STILL I WAIT

And still I wait within myself
Aware and wondering . . .
Awake within a dream—
While the pageant of the days
The nights their shadows
Encircles all.
O give me voice and one reality
And you will give me birth!
I ask no more than this:
But once to say,
"This do I know!"
And still I wait within myself
For that lit hour
That lies but one ahead
Like all tomorrows.
O give me voice to woo its with-held peace!
Though it be death
And end of all desire.
Incoherent I yearn
For that high noon
Within whose magic circle
Mortal flesh can cast no shadow.
And still I wait within myself,
Wary of each illusian;
Wasteful of time;
Wed to those lips that have no word for me—
Those other lips
Lovely, unloving, loved!
Molded to truth
And wise beyond all pain.
O give me voice once to unlock their dream
That I, within myself,
May know release.

GULLS ON THE SHORE

At the sunset hour I walked by the sea, and the keening of myriad gulls was high on the salt-misted air as I watched the wide wings dipping, curving, careening.

The waves, metronomic, beating in time to their crying shuffled the yeasty spume into winnowings—it foamed and was gone, and over it all the restless gulls were flying.

Hungry they were, and greedily plucked at the shifting seaweed and broken shells, under varying skies . . .
Heedless they were of my grief, ever wheeling and lifting

Incredible wings over water . . . the day's last flame was burning low in the west. The stars blinked their silver eyes . . .
The birds were sibyls that might answer all my yearning.

"Speak to me, birds of the shimmering breasts, birds of incessant motion, of my love who, under a strange, far sky, battles the hurricane!"
Thus I sought of the gulls some word of one far on an alien ocean.

"You too have flown unchartered ways through ominous cloud and thunder straight to familiar shores! . . . O let me not ask in vain—tell me my love will come back to me in mystery and wonder!"

Yet ever they pillaged the sand; yet ever their dissonant crying
smote on the lonely shore in mockery of my pain . . .
I heard only their voices, the beat of waves, and a somber dusk wind sighing.

CARMEL CITY COUNCIL
CHAPTER II

A very important office is that of City Clerk, filled now ably by Peter Mawdsley, preceded by Sadie van Brower, Grace Wickham, Jess Nichols. Through his office the entire history of the city's government passes. He it is who makes, classifies and preserves its records. Peter Mawdsley was born and reared in England and thoroughly trained in general administration for his local government. At the close of World War I he came to the United States and eventually to Carmel. He was naturalized in 1927. Carmel is indeed fortunate in having so important a public office as City Clerk filled by a man of keen mentality, good judgment and thoroughly familiar with office routine.

Henry Jorgensen, now Judge of the Superior Court of Monterey County, was our first City Attorney. He was followed by Argylle Campbell, who was succeeded by, incumbent William Hudson, with Peter Ferrante doing an excellent job of pinch-hitting for the latter during the war years.

City Treasurers have been Louis Slevin, Barnet Segal, Ira D. Taylor and Harry Hilbert.

To August Englund went the job of doing everything that wasn't included in any other agenda. He was the entire police force and Tax-Collector. After several years these offices were separated and Thomas V. Hefling who had been serving for a time as a Deputy was elected to a full-time position as Tax-Collector, which job he still holds.

As Carmel grew and zoning laws went into effect it became necessary to have a Building Inspector. Bernie Adams held that office for many years and upon his death was succeeded by his son Floyd Adams.

The first meeting place of the Board in 1914 was in Joe Hand's real estate office adjoining the present site of the Library. Later they met in the old Wilson building at the corner of Ocean and Dolores, one of the few old-time buildings that still stands.

I always attended the Board meetings in the capacity of Pine Cone reporter. The struggles in those days centered around paving projects, drainage problems, issuance of bonds, and complaints of residents about depredations of wild animals at night. The deer nibled their flowers, the coons rifled their outside coolers and the foxes got their chickens. How seriously we took it and what fun we had!

How well I remember the discussioons becoming heated and everyone getting tired and irritable. And of my passing a paper asking each Trustee to choose his favorite flavor of ice-cream soda to be ordered at Curtis' Candy Store and the outward solemnity and the inner twinkle of anticipation with which each inscribed his name and favorite brand—usually chocolate. Sometimes I paid for the treat and at other times one of the Trustees came through. But it was a fitting ceremony at the close of a heated session and it was grand to hear the members of the Board competing with each other in getting the final and loudest gurgles from their straws. Mike Murphy will remember those meetings.

J. K. Turner, Fred Bechdolt and Jimmy Hopper headed a petition to the state legislation to enact a law establishing a three-mile limit for the hunting of abalones, each fisherman to be restricted to not more than fifteen per week. The petition declared that the abalone was one of the star features of the artist community. We don't know of any action being taken by the Legislature at Sacramento.

When Carmel began to attract tourists, the artists became uneasy. They were afraid that the casual visitor would be more interested in the

Quiet Wedding

A small quiet wedding took place at the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday afternoon, April 10, when Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiated at the ceremony which united Betty Johnson with Sam Setencich. The wedding was attended by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Johnson of Monterey.

Bahai Gathering

"World Question,—Bahai's Answers," is the provocative title of the address to be given by Mr. Frederick F. Babo of Burlingame at the Girl Scout House on this Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The basic questions underlying many of our economic and political problems will be discussed and the audience will be invited to participate by asking questions. Mr. Babo is a former announcer and Production Director of the Columbia Broadcasting System, is an officer of the United States Marine Corps, and a world traveller.

Roving Discs

The Blair sisters have finally found a new house and moved in; there are also rumors around that Virginia will take another studio on the wharf which will give her more painting room.

Dr. Eric Berne whipped through an English revision of his book in one week due to frantic wirings on the part of London publishers Cassel; everything is ready now and Mind In Action should soon be on English shelves. New York Times also reported that Dr. Berne's book had made best seller list for first week in April. He is now all ready for a Far East trip.

Gordo Cubbison was seen around town this week in one of his famous plaid shirts, and armed with a pretty sun tanned, sun glassed blonde.

New fashions as shown by April Vogue will take us back to smelling salts, fans, and a quiet chair in the front parlor. Maybe the boys should rejoice, for it looks as though there could be no back talk from 1948's demurely corseted young female.

Edwin Vierbeck is still here.

Edna Lewisohn, former wife of novelist Ludwig Lewisohn, arrived last Tuesday from Santa Fe, had a gay time seeing friends Ellwood and Barbara Graham, Bobbie and Paco Ferro, then dashed on down to Big Sur to visit old friend Walker Winslow, who is pounding away down there on a new novel.

The rains came for Big Sur Postman Bob Nearing, who found he couldn't get back from Santa Lucia and had to go all the way to San Luis Obispo to wend his way back home via the inland route.

Dan Harris went to the city for three weeks where he will lock himself up to get ready for new show at Raymond and Raymond galleries.

Jean Varda will have a new show at the City of Paris next week.

Paul and Florence Vial back from Acapulco reporting a wonderful time.

Blonde, big-eyed Bette Davis lunching at Carousel with husband G. L. Sherry and Harrison Godwin; she is looking around valley for a ranch. Also back in the valley again is Tirey Ford, having been in Washington, D. C. since the first of the year.

Script Arrives

The April issue of Script magazine is out and we will all have a chance to see the layout work and photographs taken by staff man Don Ornitz who was in Carmel a few months ago shooting the Peninsula for Script. Mr. Ornitz favored mostly the writers and artists of Carmel, photographing Ed Weston at work, Richard Lofton painting with a model, pictures of Tor House with a close-up of Robinson Jeffers, Andre Moreau at work on his new home, Bruce Ariss and his Huckleberry Hill friends and old timers Ferdie Burgdoff, Laura Maxwell, Fred Bechdolt, DeNeale Morgan and Jimmy Hopper. There was also an excellent picture of William Ritschel at work. Everyone, so far at any rate, is very pleased with both captions and photographs.

Music Scholarship Given

The spring music scholarship given at the Weston studio in Carmel by Mrs. Ralph Weston was won by Jerry Burne, talented seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Byrne of Carmel. Jerry, a student of the piano and marimba, shows considerable musical talent. Scholarships are given twice each year to talented children.

Girl Scout News

The Carmel Girl Scout District Council held their monthly meeting April 8 to elect new officers for the coming year: district chairman, Mrs. Helen Miller, vice chairman, Mrs. Dorothy von Meier; secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Dunning, and treasurer, Mrs. Sally Bestor. The remaining members of the council will be appointed in the near future. Plans were made to build up a library at the Scout House containing song books and stories about scouting. It would be appreciated if anyone having Girl Scout books and outgrown uniforms would bring them to the Scout House.

The Girl Scout Day Camp will be held again at Whispering Pines this summer. There is to be one session for Intermediates June 14-18, and two sessions for Brownies, June 20-25 and June 28, July 2. The fee is $2.50 for each session.

Exquisite Bridal Gown

One of the most beautiful bridal gowns seen this season was worn by bride Margaret Henry on the day of her marriage to Max Van Deventer at the Church of the Wayfarer last Sunday afternoon, April 11. The gown was of a heavy stiff faille-like material, in creamy white with huge hoop skirt, and the church matched the beauty of the gown with masses of white candles and white stock and tulips. The maid of honor, Margaret A. Stoner, wore aqua taffeta, and there was a reception after the wedding at the Victorian Room in the Pine Inn. The couple are from Visalia in the San Joaquin Valley.

doings of the "Art Colony" than in gazing upon the beauties of nature. Perry Newberry and Argylle Campbell got the bright idea of putting a wall around Carmel and charging a toll to get in. They spent long hours in outlining their proposed wall on a map and planning entrances to the village but they finally admitted sadly that certain legal technicalities stood in the way. But it was a grand idea while it lasted.

WHAT PRICE RADIO-PHONOGRAPHS?

● We have been asked whether Magnavox prices were going to be reduced . . . a natural reaction of consumers who have seen or heard of drastic price cuts made on several lines going through jobbers' stock liquidation.

FRANKLY SPEAKING . . .

● There will be no reduction in Magnavox prices because there is no room to allow it.

● Magnavox policy has always been to produce the finest instruments at the lowest possible prices to the consumer. Today, Magnavox Radio-Phonographs are, model for model, priced anywhere from 50% to 100% below competition. This difference is due to the Magnavox Company's diligent effort to hold prices down, to exceptionally superior product engineering, high production efficiency and the lowest distribution costs in the industry.

● Present Magnavox prices are actually only 25% above pre-war . . . a smaller increase than that involved in most anything you buy today.

● Also bear in mind that such merchandise as is now being liquidated could not be sold at the established price because it could not stand the test of competitive values and was, therefore, never worth the asking price.

● An intelligent comparison of Magnavox values with the new values reflected by drastic price cuts of some other lines, still preponderately favors Magnavox. In addition you are offered the superior performance and quality for which Magnavox is so justly famous.

A sound value is always a good buy! Why wait for the thrill and enjoyment a new Magnavox can bring you and your entire family? We have the complete Magnavox line on display in our shop. All models are available for immediate delivery. Priced from $219.50 to $850. Each of them is the finest instrument in its class that your money can buy . . . today, tomorrow or six months from now.

The Navy Line School at Del Monte had a good time last Friday night at the commissioning party it gave as a family affair for the faculty and students and members of the Del Monte Company who have offices at the school. The party broke up around 4:00 a.m., and before the orchestra departed a long gay conga line had been formed which showed off beautifully the evening gowns of the women and the handsome uniforms and gold braid of the officers.

Elegant addition to Carmel's new polished air is JOE'S TAXI building on the corner of Sixth and Junipero. There are chic slick taxis to take you anywhere, and for your waiting convenience the newly opened coffee shop serves you hot lunches and all requisites of coffee and sandwiches and malts. Designed by Jon Konigshofer, the smart building is of brick and redwood, with huge brass tubs of leafy plants, and a built-in fireplace to keep you warm on chilly Carmel nights. A circular seating arrangement is dominated by a redwood statue of Father Serra. JOE'S TAXI service houses you, warms you, feeds you, and drives you about.

Mothers are going to have one of the happiest Mother's Days they've ever enjoyed due to the exquisite attention of the BY THE SEA SHOP on the corner of Dolores and Sixth, which has lined up the sweetest array of mother's cards to be seen. Restrained sentiment sets the tone, and the extra fine paper is touched with gold work, with floral wreaths, with huge roses, is worked with delicate ribbons, and sometimes completely covered with smooth rose satin. There are humorous cards, too, for those who prefer the light touch. And the cards, are, of course, specialized so that every offspring can find his or her proper greeting.

An abstraction of two ships' wheel circles of polished brass, set in a solid mahogany case, becomes an eight-day Ships Bell Clock Barometer combination. This masterly duet of smart design and functional usage can be seen at the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT on Ocean Avenue, and should be seen later adorning your mantel-piece or being the center focus for a seaworthy den. You might inspire an ocean view bedroom with such a clock and compensated barometer. The unit is known as Regetta 3, and bears up to the title with all possible dash and trimness.

That famous bistro along Ocean Avenue known as SADE'S, hosted by Paul Swanson and providing home nesting for all floating avenue pigeons, introduces you to Sal and Gene, two lively efficient lads who take care of you in the downstairs candle-lit, fire-lit English room. Sal and Gene prepare a special salad of mixed greens with Roquefort dressing, and will serve you superlative Kansas City prime ribs of beef. You can depend on excellent relaxing dining at the English Room at SADE'S.

Get your parties and picnics going with paper accessories from the POKE ABOUT SHOP. There are paper cups with handles, cocktail, luncheon and dinner napkins, and paper guest towels, all in gay colors, some with bright floral designs, or bright reminders of Time For One More, whipped out in multi-colored letters.

The VILLAGE JEWELERS wishes to announce that due to the friendly insistence of a great many Carmel citizens who wish to buy jewelry and clocks and ornament ware out of income, they are starting an easy, gracious credit service for the benefit of those who prefer to buy a wrist watch, say, by a series of payments than all at once. This will enable a great many people to take care of their luxury necessities. The VILLAGE JEWELERS also wish to remind you that they carry a complete line of watches, and are the agents for the Keepsake diamond engagement and wedding rings.

Hands to the front, wafting lipsticks, cocktails, greetings, in the perfect ensemble Crescendoe gloves (apt name, Cresendoe, for the fabric perfectly resembles doeskin) shown and shown only at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE on Dolores Street. The gloves are wrist length or slip-over size, with scalloped edges or plain, and lovingly tailored like fine leather gants. A new shipment of black and navy has arrived to match your black cottons, your spring navy suits, and there are also beige, pink, and well established white.

BILL COYLE, FLOORS, A shop on 491 Alvarado Street in Monterey, feels that it shouldn't brag about its wonderful floors but should let the floors speak for themselves. And that they will do if you care to witness them at Branson's Mens Shop, Harriet Duncan's, Armand's Beauty Shop, George Marks Barber Shop, Dr. Munger's, Sunset Cleaner's, to mention just a few of the newly installed floors. Some are of rubber tile, some of asphalt, and all have the distinction of being individually styled to suit the building and shop. BILL COYLE, FLOORS has also received 14 rolls of lineleum which will be around if you hurry.

What to do after a Sunday walk on the beach, or where to go before Sunday tea time? Why not go studio visiting to the E. M. HEATH studio on Lincoln and Thirteenth, where E. M. HEATH keeps Sunday afternoon open house from one until around five, and where you may see her interesting marine oils and landscapes on display. There is no sales pressure upon you; the show is merely for the pleasure of people who would like to add an artistic footnote to leisurely Sunday hours.

Nobody need persuade you that April is here. Just look around you, sniff the fresh air, tread the green grass, witness the bluer than ever water, hearken to the birds going wild, then step into the FLOR DE MONTEREY on Franklin and see the supreme proof of April, the heaps and heaps of bright, scented, gay spring flowers. The whole shop is a riot of color and an expression of springtime from the austere Easter lillies to the whimsical painted peonies. You won't be able to leave until you have ordered an array of blossoms to brighten your rooms and bring all springtime indoors.

Feel that you've crossed a border in a long swirling skirt of Cohama washable rayon at $1.39 a yard at PUTNAM & RAGGETT'S. The colors are all for sun and southern exposure, with border patterns of figures and birds, reminiscent of Mexican and Guatemalan designs. You will find black worked against yellow, red and white against black, and other interesting combinations played against backgrounds of grey, white, muted green and pink. Costumes made from these materials will give you a truly foreign tang.

Such popularity must be deserved. Particularly when it has the approval and patronage of millions of women, the country over! When a reducing system is so popular that its fame spreads like wildfire all across a nation, then it's definitely proving its worth. That's why the local women, who want to lose some pounds, or just get relaxed from tight nerves, go to the STAUFFER SYSTEM on the corner of Mission and Fifth because they know it's been tried and proved good. These attractive studios all over the United States are giving women the relaxation and reducing they want, in a gentle soothing inexpensive manner, 12 treatments for $15.00 and 25 for $25.00, and now is a good time to drop by. If you want to call for more information, or if you're working and want a night appointment, just phone 2101-W, and you will be taken care of.

Something new, something white, something modern, to give your kitchen a radiant 1948 touch, and to give you a lady of leisure-in-the-kitchen feeling. The Estate ranges at the WALDO HICKS PLUMBING SHOP will give you all this and plenty of things on the practical side, too. They are a two-oven job, which means that you can be broiling or roasting something at the same time that you are baking, they have four top burners, a compartment, and a nice shaded light on top. All in all a nice bit of clean functioning equipment for your kitchen decoration and usage.

HOWARD'S dress shop on Alvarado in Monterey is having Dollar Day today and Saturday, a truly great day in which every item in the store will be offered a special discount of twenty per cent, and this means twenty per cent off everything. All the new spring suits, dresses, coats, sweaters, all are included except the Fair Trade items. This gives you an opportunity to forget about the high cost of living and indulge in a two day holiday spree in which you can buy to your taste's content, knowing that you are saving money while you purchase handsome items at a great reduction. Have a good time for yourselves at HOWARD'S today and tomorrow.

Along with all the remarkably smart clothes carried at GAIL COUPE'S shop on San Carlos, Carmel, a new department has been added which shows brassieres, light weight girdles, and those absolute necessities for strapless gowns and bathing suits, Gay Deceivers. The brassieres and girdles come in smooth colors of pink, blue, white, and even yellow, and are well moulded, form shaping, cast to make you sleek, chic and handsome. At GAIL COUPE'S on San Carlos, phone 666-W.

For two days, and two days only, the MODE O'DAY shop on Alvarado in Monterey offers you ten dozen blouses selling at $1.98. Today and Saturday are the two super special days, and though we must admit that the blouses are slightly irregular, which means that they are possibly a tiny bit soiled from handling, you will find that their variety, styling and price will make them amply worth your purchasing. There is every kind of blouse possible from plain tailored ones, to dressy lacy affairs, short-sleeved and long-sleeved, even the popular Gibson girl blouses are included. Wander about the MODE O'DAY shop and find the exact blouse to match your spring suit.

All fervent customers of KIP'S will be delighted to know that standing room has been improved with the addition of new floors and the wonderful breathing space attained with two new bright green counters each neatly set with a cash register. To celebrate all this new space and added efficiency for your convenience, you should celebrate with a Queen Anne Pecan Log, the biggest candy bar you've ever seen and simply loaded with nuts.

—I wish to thank my friends and those who voted for me, for their encouragement and support.

—I will, and I trust the citizens of Carmel will cooperate with the new Council.

- LESLIE F. BOSSHARDT

There it is. Where? Why, right on top of Huckleberry Hill at the corner of Prescott and Lottie Streets. What? MANUEL'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT. Serving? Some of the best Mexican food prepared north or south of the border. The chef? Lovely Felicitas herself, cooking with all the know-how of a lass born in Patzcuaro. Served by? Manuel, with all the charm of another Patzcuaro offspring. So there you have it, and what to do about it is to go find out for yourself just how good such food can be, and with just how much charm MANUEL'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT can enchant you.

Phil Nesbitt is currently accomplishing a series of small murals for SUNNY BOY'S restaurant on Monterey wharf. SUNNY BOY, Monterey's famous bon vivant, likes Phil's work very much. The theme of the murals in the main room is three panels showing a fish orchestra applauding happily the ball room dancing of a pair of lithsome octopi, while over the cashier's desk is a caricature of "Sunny Boy" himself as a sun tanned salmon, complete with sunshade, dark glasses, sun oil and cigar. The theme coming up for the bar is yet to be determined by the artists Phil Nesbitt and Ann Howland Nesbitt, the artist's wife, who, incidentally, is a sculptress now hard at work on her first piece of sculpture since becoming a bride.

VELLENGA ORIGINALS, Ted Dekker's smart shop on Dolores, presents original Sascha Brasloff ceramics with clever designs and wonderful colors. Sasha is the talented lad who does Carmen Miranda's exotic costumes and headgear. The unusual highly glazed pottery comes in ash trays, demi tasse, skillful salt and pepper shakers, pig banks, pitchers, comes in big dinner plates of patterned tulips lined in raised gold which can be ordered, in fact, whole dinner services can be ordered, and comes spectacularly in huge cups and saucers, one most smashingly dramatic in yellow and gold. Ted Dekker is the exclusive agent on the whole Peninsula for this highly decorative ware.

Quaint, beautiful, and exclusive are the prints and colored steel engravings now being shown at the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP on Monte Verde. There are sedate English sporting prints in old curly maple frames, floral and fruit prints which somehow resemble modern primitive paintings, bright Scottish prints displaying clan plaids, nostalgic old New York seel engravings, and early American primitive oils. Two English water color portraits are particularly delightful. Give your walls and rooms the added charm of these amusing prints from the HERITAGE ANTIQUE shop.

Now the power shortage is over, those lights are on again at the VILLAGE CORNER and you will be drawn moth-like into those warm friendly regions to drink your coffee or hot chocolate, discuss the Monday night plays and discuss the movies. On warm nights you can do this effectively with mugs of creamy, old fashioned root beer, or with that terrific VILLAGE CORNER speciality, an Oaken Bucket Sundae.

Fashion Show

The Harriet Duncan fashion show put on Wednesday at the Pine Inn fashion luncheon was one of the most unique we have had as well as one of the most smoothly done. Miss Duncan herself did the commentary and there were restful audience-grateful pauses between the entrance of models. Subject matter was given the show in an around the clock theme which began with early morning outfits and went on to lounging after-the-theatre clothes. Mrs. Jack Bauer opened the show and stepped out of an early morning in a cream colored satin negligee hand sewn with purple and fuchsia sequins which was worn over a classically draped non-wear-outable nylon gown; she was followed by Mrs. Richard Taylor in a pale blue gown worn under a short quilted robe lined with the same pale blue, perfect to sit about in for the last cup of coffee and final cigarette before you dash down town in the yellow skirt with aqua jacket and brilliant scarf worn by Peggy Riker. Other morning shopping clothes were a white short coat over shepherd check skirt with string gloves and shadow hose, and a rayon gabardine hooded pecan coat over green skirt, beige sweater and bright scarf. The color accents were particularly good in these morning sports clothes.

The clock turns to patio time and we see a delightful white pique low necked dress with matching jacket and gold belt, and a white gabardine dress also with its own jacket. For real beach wear Peggy Riker showed denim shorts with striped denim bra and beach coat, and carried matching denim pedal pushers. A bare midriff was displayed by the non-meeting of a pair of black linen pedal pushers and black bra, both trimmed in pale with pink pockets. If you want to return to town in the afternoon, Mrs. Margaret Foote showed how to do it well in a yellow skirt, green sweater and jacket and wonderful black and yellow sweater, all of which went marvellously with her beautifully swept up grey hair.

And now it is evening time and we see what the very young will be dancing in. They've gone a little more formal and would now wear the white cotton top with long brilliantly colored full skirt shown by Peggy Riker. Mrs. Jack Bauer showed the more sophisticated type of theatre or dinner wear with a long black ballerina skirt with fitted cummerbund and pink silk long sleeved blouse embroidered with pearls. Two exciting finishing touches were the exquisite Hawaiian lei (from Mrs. Neilsen at the NB flower shop) worn by Mrs. Foote over a blouse made of pink ribbon, cinched in with gold belt and worn with black satin trousers; and the ropes of tiny gold temple bells wrapped around the throat and shoulders of a pale white chiffon blouse also worn with black trousers and modeled by Mrs. Jack Bauer.

Mr. Mark of El Paseo Beauty Studio was responsible for the wonderful up sweep of Mrs. Bauer's red hair, and the short smart new look effect of Peggy Riker's coiffure.

Mrs. Lawrence T. Haugen wife of Captain Haugen, U.S.N., retired, has been the house guest of Col. and Mrs. Harry B. Gant of Carmel. Mrs. Haugen plans to stay here a few months visiting the peninsula and a great many of her old Navy friends. Also guest for the week end of Col. and Mrs. Harry B. Gant will be Col. and Mrs. A. L. Gorby of San Francisco.

Symphony Keeps Record For Good Performances

By MARY LYNN DRAKE

Following its previous record of successful concerts, the Monterey Symphony Orchestra added another evening of fine music Thursday, April 8, in Salinas High School Auditorium.

The Kiwanis Club of Salinas sponsored the Symphony and was responsible for many ticket sales. The program, part of which was broadcast over Salinas' young station, KSBW, again displayed the unusual factor of a Symphony Orchestra with two regular conductors.

Both Lorell McCann, who conducted the first half of the program, and Clifford Anderson, who conducted the latter half, brought attention to the fact that organization of largely non-professional players, teachers, clerks, business men and women, students, can produce professional-sounding concerts.

The feature of the evening was a Concertino for Clarinet which presented Daniel Snell as soloist with the orchestra. This melodic composition demands exceptional technique from the soloist as well as sustained orchestral support.

The brilliant Tannhauser March opened the program revealing the power of the full orchestra and describing briefly the pomp and splendor of royal life at court. Benjamin Godard's Adagio Pathetique offered a striking contrast to the March and brought into play the pionissimo quality of the orchestra.

The ever-popular Oberon Overture was next, calling for precise melodic line by the strings. They followed the Concertino and closing the first part of the program was Le Cid Ballet music. This piece has a distinct Spanish flavor and its rapid melodic passages in strings and woodwinds must be executed with clarity. The percussion group by use of castanets and tambourine maintained the Spanish atmosphere.

During the second half of the program the orchestra performed the poignant Valse Triste of Sibelius. A subdued quality of sadness and tension expressed the pathos of this work.

The, timeless Unfinished Symphony offered opportunity for the cellos in the famous melody of the first movement. The second movement was also played bringing out the genius of the composer at romantic melody and clever thematic development.

The program closed with a sparkling version of Perpetual Motion by Johann Straus. In this composition the bells were heard for the first time during the evening. This composition served as an excellent finis as it presented all sections of the orchestra with bits of melody with which to run gaily to the surprising climax.

The Symphony plans one more concert beforé the close of the season and plans are all ready under way for next year's series.

Empire Style Will Costume Cast For Pride And Prejudice

With rehearsals progressing nicely on Pride and Prejudice, the senior play which will be presented by the Carmel High School on April 30, the very important problem of costumes is now being discussed.

The costumes for Pride and Prejudice are traditionally of the Napoleonic Empire period which was in full swing around 1810. Even in those days fashions were in a process of rapid change; tight pantaloons were introduced by the younger male generation in place of the traditional knee breeces and white wigs. Men wore Hessian boots for outside activities such as riding and hunting, while pumps constituted a man's indoor footwear.

Women's dresses are easily distinguished by the extremely high waist lines, daintily puffed sleeves, and colorful sashes. Women took great pride in their bonnets, with their bright ribbons and gay flowers. Mob caps were worn by women while doing house work and though not terribly attractive, these caps served their purpose by keeping hair clean and neat. Shoes were low-heeled, generally black, somewhat resembling the ballet shippers worn today by our younger generation.

A more colorful era could not have been chosen to decorate the stage during the presentation of Pride and Prejudice, for both men and women found great delight in the wearing of bright colors.

Male Chorus At H. S. Sunday Evening

Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the music room of the Carmel High School, the Musical Art Club will present the Masonic Male Chorus under the direction of Frank Binnie. This group has been in existence two years and has established an enviable reputation. Feature soloist of the evening will be Mr. Wallace Lowry assisted by Mrs. Lowry at the piano. Robert Forbes is accompanist for the chorus. The program follows: Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee, J. S. Bach; Grant Us To Do With Zeal, J. S. Bach; Where'er You Walk, Handel; Bless This House, May H. Brahe; Dedication, Robert Franz.

Were You There, Negro Spiritual, H. L. Burleigh; Kentucky Babe, Plantation, Adam Geibel; Goin' Home, New World Symphony, Anton Dvorak; Steal Away, Negro Spiritual.

Baritone Solo, The Night Rider, Burgh; Mr. Lowry, accompanied by Mrs. Lowry;

Morning, Oley Speaks; Passing By, Ed. C. Purcell; John Pell, Mark Andrews; Bird Song At Eventide, Eric Coats; Hymn of Youth, David Sequiera.

The Carmel Music Society will present the French baritone, Martial Singher, in a recital tomorrow evening in Sunset Auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Mr. Singher is an accomplished musician in his early forties who has been acclaimed as "a voice out of the golden age" because he has cultivated the art of the recitalist to a point which is scarcely equalled by anyone else now before the public.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now It's Neckties Made of Milk!

Fellow in Andy Botkin's Tavern was boasting about a trick necktie he was wearing made out of a by-product of milk. "Took 33 pounds of milk to make this tie," he says.

Bill Webster was unimpressed. "Personally," he says, "I'd rather have the milk to drink. Just as I wouldn't change one glass of good American beer for a necktie made from thirty barrels of it!"

Yes, modern science being what it is—seems like you can make "anything out of anything" these days. But in the case of milk, well I guess drinking it is still a whole lot better than just wearing it.

Of course there are lots of other ways of abusing goods and beverages—like a fellow who doesn't appreciate good beer enough to drink it slowly and in moderation.

But from where I sit, most people who enjoy a wholesome beverage like beer or ale are moderate—because beer itself is a beverage of moderation.
